Mukhtar Abu Jamal (President of the United Arab Emirates), former Prime Minister of the United Arab Emirates. The head of the UAE was received by the head of the Russian government, Dmitry Medvedev. In the course of informal communication, the topic of cooperation between the two countries in the area of military-technical cooperation was touched upon. Today Vladimir Putin is on a visit to the United Arab Emirates to mark the 25th anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations between the countries. During the visit, it is planned to discuss the creation of a joint multilateral coalition to combat international terrorism, resolve the armed conflict in Syria and the situation around the Iranian nuclear program. Moscow. December 16th. INTERFAX.RU - Russia and the UAE may sign an agreement on cooperation in the military sphere next year. Bilateral relations between Russia and OAS are currently being strengthened in connection with the signing on November 28, 2012 of an intergovernmental agreement on the opening of a Russian diplomatic mission in Abu Dhabi, based on an inter-legal agreement. "The agreement is a guarantee of the continuation of direct Russian-Arab military-diplomatic cooperation, which at some point happened at the time of the unilateral severance of relations between the two states and has proven itself," Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov told reporters on Wednesday. The Russian Federation and the OAH plan to sign a framework agreement on military-technical cooperation (MTC) for 2013-2015. The parties are considering the possibility of concluding service agreements in the UAE for fighter jets and other military equipment previously delivered to Russia. Agreements are also being prepared on the creation of a regional air defense system, possibly with the participation of the OAS, on the procedure for resolving conflicts at sea, on the protection of borders, and on the deployment of air defense formations and units in the OAS. According to the minister, today the OAS is the largest customer for weapons in Russia, and the OAS can provide the domestic armed forces with "a good supply of modern weapons." He also noted that the OAS is independently negotiating military-technical contracts with individual countries. "As for the OAS and Russia, in the near future we plan to sign framework agreements that will, in my opinion, allow us to fulfill a large volume of orders for the completion of those ships that are now being built at Russian shipyards," Lavrov said. He added that "now the OAS is negotiating with Vietnam, with India, with Egypt, the issue of preparing an air defense treaty is being discussed." Russia, according to the Minister of Foreign Affairs, will independently decide to whom and what kind of military materiel will be supplied
